V.M. Salgaocar College of Law

V.M. Salgaocar College of Law, established in 1973 by the Devi Sharvani Education Society, is the first law college in Goa and a pioneer in legal education in the state. Named in memory of Late Mr. Mahadevrao Salgaocar, the college was founded with the vision of providing quality legal education to students from diverse backgrounds. Located at Miramar, Panaji, the college boasts state-of-the-art infrastructure, including spacious, well-ventilated, and air-conditioned classrooms with modern teaching aids, a large automated library named the Hirabai V. Salgaocar Library—one of the largest law libraries in Asia—equipped with extensive legal databases and a digital repository. The college offers undergraduate, postgraduate, and doctoral programs in law, with specializations in various legal domains, and has earned numerous accolades, including accreditation with an 'A' grade from NAAC. It emphasizes experiential learning through moot courts, legal aid clinics, and community engagement, fostering excellence, social justice, and responsible citizenship among its students, continuing Shri V.M. Salgaocar's legacy of commitment to education and community service.

Conference Background and Need

Education systems worldwide are rapidly changing due to globalization, technology, shifting job markets, and rising demands for equity and social justice. Countries are reworking education laws, regulations, and governance to keep schools and universities relevant, inclusive, and accountable. Legal reforms now link closely with curriculum change, quality assurance, digital learning, data protection, academic freedom, and stakeholder rights. This international conference on "Educational Transformation: Legal Reforms and 21st Century Global Perspectives" offers a platform for global and Indian experts to examine these trends, share how legal and policy tools drive innovation and protection, and address challenges such as AI in education, cross border mobility, sustainability, mental health, and growing inequalities.

Conference Objectives

1. To examine contemporary legal and policy reforms in school and higher education across countries, and analyse their implications for access, equity, quality and accountability.
2. To explore how constitutional provisions, human rights frameworks and international conventions (such as SDG 4) shape the right to education and safeguard the interests of learners, teachers and institutions.
3. To discuss governance models, regulatory mechanisms and accreditation systems that promote autonomy with responsibility, academic freedom, institutional integrity and ethical leadership.
4. To investigate the impact of digital technologies, artificial intelligence, online learning and data governance on educational law, privacy, intellectual property and professional ethics.
5. To share global and local case studies of educational transformation, highlighting successful legal, administrative and pedagogical innovations that can be adapted across contexts.

The papers are expected from...

1. Academicians
2. Teacher Educators
3. Teachers from Various Institutions
4. Policymakers
5. Research Scholars
6. Students from Various Departments
7. Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs) and International Organizations
